Holy Cross Book Club

We are till reading our book: Richard Rohr's Falling Upward: A Spirituality for the Two Halves of Life. We are still in the "Introduction," so if you wish to join, you have not missed much. The meat of the book will begin soon.

We have some very interesting discussions as we seek to move into living our true selves in Christ. Youtube has several lectures by Fr Rohr on this book. If you wish to see them, I can send you the links.

We are continuing on Zoom since we have several who are out of the area -- one in New Jersey, one in South Carolina, and one in New Smyrna Beach or Tennessee. If you are interested in joining us, please send me an email (SLCARVETH@MSN.COM) so you can receive the weekly evite to the Zoom meeting and the weekly update on where we are in the book, plus possible discussion ideas. We do not record the sessions; your privacy is protected as we respect the confidentiality of everything that is shared.

Happy reading, Sharon

From the Desk of Dan Smith, Priest-in-Charge

Dear Friends,

As we move to October and November the calendar is full and there is great emotion, grief with Greg McDaniel's funeral on the 8th and unbelievable joy with Rob's ordination as a priest on November 19. In between and after there are clean-up days, worship, thanksgiving, finalization of plans for next year, candidates for Bishop, and Bishop candidates walkabouts (a chance to meet and listen to the candidates). We will also be welcoming home those of our congregation who spend time each year in other parts of the country. All in all, there is a lot going on.

I do want to say a few words around the ordination. I remember my ordination like it was yesterday instead of almost 41 years ago. There is not the time or space for the theological conversation of what takes place at ordination. Suffice it to say that my life was changed. That is going to happen with Rob. His life takes off in a new trajectory. We, and I really mean we, are setting him not apart from the rest of us, but in a role that is important and special to the rest of us. We are ordaining him to a ministry of word and sacrament. Rob has certainly already found his preaching voice, though that too will change and grow. He will begin to share the sacraments in a new and deeper way. He will be given authority to preside at the altar, to announce God's forgiveness and God's blessing. I can tell you that all three of those are humbling experiences, all three among the great honors of my life.

If you have never been to an ordination, it is a powerful experience for all who are present. The lessons for the day are a calling to leadership, the litany for ordination is soul touching as the prayers for the candidate are offered and the candidate realizes that they must humble themselves before God and the rest of us. The ordination itself, when the priests present join the Bishop in the laying on of hands and frankly to the candidate it feels like the weight of the world is pressing down on you. The joy of the music and the fellowship afterwards are icing on the cake. I do hope Nov. 19 is already on your calendar and that you will be present. Rob needs you there.

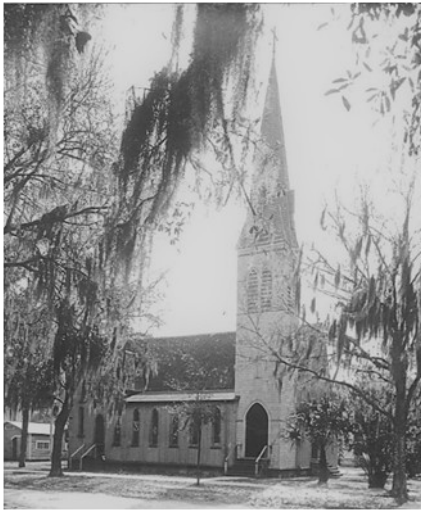

I want to also say a word about the 20th. That Sunday morning Rob will preside for the first time at the Eucharist. For a priest this is almost, perhaps within a breath of being as important as the ordination itself. That is because the center of the priest's ministry is the table and the sacrament of the altar. So, even though you will have been here on the 19th, it is extremely important for you to be here the next day as well. I was more nervous behind the altar then I was at the ordination. Be there for Rob in your prayers as well as with your presence.

Please also remember that we will have a lot of guests with us in the next several months. Let's welcome them with all the love we have for one another and for Holy Cross. Remember to invite your friends and family to join us.

Faithfully,

Fr. Dan+

Holy Cross 150th Anniversary Celebration

In the last issue of The Crossroads, we told of our first church building being destroyed by a storm in 1880.

Continuing with the story: A new location (the old church location was used for the new rectory) was bought on the corner on Park Avenue and Fourth Street and a modified Upjohn church was constructed using materials where possible from the ruins of the first church. Again Mrs. Sanford sought contributions from her friends to rebuild the church. The building was completed in 1882 with a high spire which became a landmark along the St. John's River.

By November of 1891, Holy Cross was again out of debt and the second church was consecrated by the Bishop of Florida, E.G. Weed, November 1st, 1891, All Saints Day.

In 1883 the Rev. S. B. Carpenter became rector. In the diocesan records, Holy Cross was reported having 42 families.

Bishop Young had died in 1885 and the Reverend Edwin Gardner Weed was nominated and confirmed as Bishop. By 1888, the diocese had grown from seven churches in 1838 to 80 parishes and organized missions with 54 ministers. The General Convention of the Episcopal Church in 1892 divided the diocese with the Right Reverend William Crane Gray as Bishop of the Missionary Jurisdiction of South Florida. This new diocese included all the counties in Florida south of the counties of Leon, Alachua, Putman and St. John's. Holy Cross was one of the parishes transferred to the new diocese. In February, 1893, Holy Cross Church in Sanford hosted the organizational convention of the new diocese. She became known as the "Mother Church."

In 1892 Henry and Gertrude Sanford's daughter was married in the church with many of New York's most celebrated society coming to attend the festivities by special train. After the ceremony, the guests went to Belair (Sanford's experimental horticultural station and lodge), where songs were sung by the Holy Cross choir and the marriage was celebrated. Her husband, Stephen Sanford (yes, he also had the surname of Sanford) had given the carpet for the first church, and at the time of the marriage donated another carpet for the second church.

Back-to-back freezes in 1894 and 1895 devastated Sanford and the surrounding area. Those parishioners who did not move were left without means of livelihood. There was no way to pay a regular priest; therefore, visiting clergy from the north and local clergy supplied the parish. It was 1913 before Holy Cross had a regular priest, the Reverend Arthur Searing Peck.

The Rev. Peck's tenure was a period of growth and great activity. The first Parish House was dedicated and became something of a community center as it was used by city, religious, fraternal, patriotic and social organizations. There was a library, billiard table, bowling alley, a “moving picture machine,” and Holy Cross even had a basketball team.

Alas, tragedy struck once again. On November 27, 1923, a fire raced through the church, Parish House, and Rectory. The city fire hydrants could not supply enough pressure to aid the fire department in putting out the fire. The church records were under lock and key so they also burned.

Again, the congregation began plans to rebuild. Fr. Peck, though providing a major influence in the building of a new church, resigned in 1924. It was felt that the strain of the disaster had proven too great.

In our next issue of The Crossroads, we continue our history of Holy Cross

Youth & Children's Ministries

Marco A Ungarelli

Firstly, all of our prayers are with you and hoping that Hurricane Ian has passed over all of us without harm. As always church family, if you are in need please call the church, this is why we are here.

Sunday-School is up and running. While you enjoy The Chosen enrichment series, the children are being taught in the Kinder-class next to the nursery. At the moment, we have one little angel and she is learning about God's love and the Lord's Prayer. My team and I will continue to prepare our lessons and hope as we get back into the swing of things, we will grow. The craft for Holy Cross Day was a little birdfeeder in the shape of, you guessed it, a cross! The Youth Group is on hiatus but are included in the multi-generational class mentioned above that Father Dan & Deacon Rob are running after mass in the Parish Hall.

It is truly a blessing to have our beloved Holy Cross services broadcast on Facebook. Ajani has become quite the cameraman for the livestreaming church services Sunday mornings. Miss Tehiara and Keiyara are also helping with sound and graphics on Brian's production crew. Mrs. Rachel is back, Yeah! She has arranged her choir room, with the new flooring, and has the choir back to practice Saturday mornings. Ever so grateful and blessed for her.

October is a busy month indeed. The Blessing of the Animals is on the 2nd at 1pm. in our Memorial Garden, so please bring your little loves. The church is collecting pet supplies that will be delivered to our favorite rescues; Rescues by Judy for the feline supplies and Florida Pointer Rescue for the canines. There will be water bowls provided for our pets to during during the blessings. Please remember your leashes, poo pee do baggies and manners fur-ever families! Also planned on the 31st from 6 to 8 pm. is, Trunk Oh Treats! Father Dan is hoping we can host this annual favorite, so let me know if you would like to participate and please stay informed! This is the same day Sanford will hold its, Fang-Tastic Fest at Fort Mellon Park; from 4 to 5 pm. It's for children 12 and under ending early enough not to compete with our event. So deck out your trunk and come to the church! Remember, no scary, gory death stuff, church family. First we had our Betty Sonnenburg, with her Daniel & the Lion's Den display. Next was Tehiara's family and their Pumpkin Menagerie. Sonia Greenly had a beautiful display honoring our Mexican brethren. Whose creative trunk tableau will be next to win the coveted, Trunk Oh Treats! trophy this year? Could it be you?

Our beloved Holy Cross offers something for everyone and for every age. I do hope you take full advantage of the many programs offered. There is a huge amount of work in making the online presence seem effortless! These offerings also bring closeness to our families. How close is a family that prays together? Imagine the closeness of one who worships together, such a blessing.

Our youth love to serve their fellow beings. We have two teens who wish to become chalice bearers/ Epistle readers, as soon as safety allows. If your teen is at least, 16 and wishes to serve in this ministry too, please let me know so we can set add them to the upcoming roster.

Now in November, we have Veteran's Day on the 11th. We will have a presentation in honor of our heroes to be shown before mass on the preceding Sunday, the 7th. I hope to have some poppy crafts to hand out from the students too. Deacon Rob's ordination is on the 19th! We will have a visit with, Mrs. & Bishop Brewer, which will also be the Bishop's last visit to church before his retirement. On this special day, we will have Acolytes, a full choir, processionalists to and fro, with a barbecue reception following mass in the Parish Hall. Blessings all around. We conclude the month with Thanksgiving and do we have much to praise God for. I start each day thanking God for my family, my daughter and all she is, Mom's strength, determination and faith, being here with us. Plus; I love how she finds comfort her well-loved Bible. She amazes me so much, my miracle Mom. I am thankful to be in America. I am so very grateful for our first responders, power line workers.

Blessings and prayers loved ones.

The programs and ministries of the Parish are listed in the WELCOME brochure available at the back of the Church or from the Church office.

A plea from Pat Miller for some new sponsors for our Altar flowers. Over the past couple years, we have lost some sponsors for various reasons. The flowers are on the high altar and also the chapel altar. You may make a memorial for loved ones or you may make a thank offering for family, friends or special occasions. The cost for flowers is $35 for each altar and you may take one of the arrangements home after the Church service. The other arrangement is usually taken to a shut-in. You may also make a memorial or thank offering for the Sanctuary Candle that is in the chapel. The cost for the candle is $12. Each week the floral and candle offering is listed in the bulletin and the two month floral and candle offerings are listed in the Crossroads. The floral arrangements are made weekly by Seminole Flower Shop. If you would like to sponsor either the floral or candle you may contact Sandra at the church office or Pat Miller at 321-363-3136. Payment can be made by sending it to the church office or putting it in the offertory at church. Please note on your check that it is for a floral or candle and note the date that it will be placed.
